CONGRESSMAN COMES TO TOWN (Raton Range)

Northern New Mexico U.S. Rep. Ben Luján speaks to Colfax County residents at the Raton Senior Citizens Center during a visit Thursday afternoon. Luján came to Raton to highlight how federal stimulus funding will benefit The Food Depot, a Santa Fe-based food bank that provides food to the senior center for distribution to low-income residents of the area. In addition, Luján and the small crowd discussed topics ranging from education and youth activities to the proposed White Peak land swap, which Luján said he opposes.
