On Thursday, Ben held a roundtable on health care, inviting patients and providers to tell their personal stories and share their ideas on how to reform the health care system. KRQE covered the roundtable, and the important discussion that took place. Take a look at the video clip courtesy of KRQE: